FRONT

We Are the They

When someone says “nobody is doing anything” about empty precincts or low turnout:

> “I hear you. When we wait for them, three fingers point back at us. We are the they. Who’s the next neighbor, the next person, you’ll talk to this month?”

Simple next steps you can offer

- Check your own voter registration and help one neighbor do the same.
- Attend one short PC orientation or Vottiv training.
- Talk with the next neighbor in your precinct this month, then the next person.
- Become a Precinct Committeeman (or help recruit one).

Different rooms, different permission

- Republican club: Direct asks for PC service or walking are fine.
- Civic club: Stick to registration dates, deadlines, and nonpartisan ballot information.
- Church or 501(c)(3): Strictly nonpartisan. Save any party conversation for private follow-up.

Become a PC

Precinct Committeemen are the foundation. Ask your club president how to get started.

The six steps

Friendly opener · Ask an open question · Listen and acknowledge · Bridge · Soft close · Thank them

Keep this card with you. Use the close. Pass names of interested people to your club president.
